THE WEEK THAT WAS

Brian's Take recaps 23 MSB opinion takes published during the week. These are the key conclusions from MSB's reporting, analysis and game coverage....

1

Orioles fall behind early, lose 7-3 to Blue Jays

The Orioles lost this game in the first three innings. Falling behind 5-0 is difficult enough, but doing it on the road against a division opponent gave Baltimore almost no margin for error the rest of the afternoon. Bradish simply was not good enough. He has the talent to be one of Baltimore's better starters, but surrendering five runs before the offense has e...

Orioles jump on Scherzer early, beat Blue Jays 7-4 in Toronto

Do not bury the Orioles yet. Baltimore put itself in a terrible position with its recent losing streak, but the Orioles have responded exactly how a team with postseason aspirations needed to respond. The offense has suddenly come alive, Beavers continues to look comfortable in important situations and Mayo is providing another dangerous power bat in the lineup....

Orioles head north for critical three-game series against Blue Jays with Wild Card hopes on the line...

The Orioles have spent much of 2026 fighting their way back into contention, falling away and then finding another way to make the race interesting. Wednesday's win over Cleveland kept the door open, but Baltimore is running out of opportunities to walk through it. With only 15 games remaining, there is no longer enough schedule left to simply wait for another hot...

4

Orioles Part Ways With Vice President Matt Blood in Major Player Development Shakeup...

This is a major Orioles front-office move because Matt Blood was not simply another executive buried somewhere on the organizational chart. He was directly involved in constructing the player-development system that helped turn the Orioles from a rebuilding franchise into an organization overflowing with legitimate major league talent. Baltimore's farm system beca...
